

- The Model: A set of classes that describes the data you are working with as well as the business logic.
- The View: Defines how the application's UI will be displayed. It is a pure HTML, which decides how the UI is going to look like.
- The Controller: A set of classes that handles communication from the user, overall application flow, and application-specific logic.